Manager of the GAZETTE.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat thinks that if ex-Senator Harrison was brought to a realizing sense of his own political unimportance that Judge Gresham would be nominated at Chicago.

It is unfortunate that some of the union soldiers do not speak on the Hancock controversy in the senate. After all Hancock's war record will not make a particularly good campaign document.

There seems to be good reason for thinking Forsker will not be very loyal to Sherman at Chicago. He thinks "Arthur and Foraker" would be the best ticket. But such an experience as Garfield's in the convention of 1880 is not apt to happen twice in a generation.

Mr. Tyndall of Alabama has just been appointed consul at San Salvador. This is not the first time he has been sent on a foreign mission. During the war he was in prison charged with piracy and was released only on condition that he should leave the country.

General Boulanger is now opposed by the French republicans, and that also includes the liberals and radicals. His support comes from the peasantry, who have generally preferred a one man power, to the uncertain duration of the modern French ministry.

Thirteen states have already selected their delegates to the republican national convention; in addition to these states many district conventions have been held. Although nearly half the delegates have been elected nothing definite regarding the presidential preference is known.

It is stated that the democrats in Louisiana are now hesitating about fixing Nicholl's majority for governor. Some conservative citizens are in favor of placing it at about 40,000, while others more enthusiastic and less prudent wish to make it 60,000. The official returns have not yet been announced.

During the past six weeks the leading papers in the northwest have declared for Gresham. Harrison has not been spoken of outside of his state. Yet the Indiana republicans instruct for Harrison. If the delegation had been solid for Gresham, he would lead in the presidential race. With Harrison there is no hope of success. Indiana is throwing away the chance of electing a favorite son to the presidency.

The Jeffersonian democrats are sound in decrying but do not go much on "public office is a public trust." David B. Hill is one of the old bourbons who roused the enthusiasm of his party with the boast "I am a democrat." He was not one of the milk and water kind like Cleveland who would not turn the republican office holders out fast enough. He has recently been found guilty of questionable transactions with contractors by which he obtained money for his campaign in 1885. He also appropriated money belonging to another fund to provide luxuries for the executive mansion. This was to have been expected however, from an old friend of Tweed. While Cleveland's democracy is not so respected, no scandal ever tarnished his official reputation.

The democratic party facing allied itself with the liquor and Mormon interests in congress, has recently committed itself in behalf of the cigarette interests. Last Monday every democrat in the senate voted against a proposition having for its object the suppression of the cigarette in the District of Columbia. A petition signed by 267 physicians of the district setting forth the evils of the habit, and asking for the passage of a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to boys under 16 years was presented by Senator Chace of Rhode Island, and was printed in the Record in the face of a united democratic opposition. It would not be surprising if the democrats should oppose a bill looking towards the suppression of pleuro pneumonia. The party is now vainly trying to make a record, and at the present rate it is succeeding admirably.

Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, April 28. The stock market to-day was very active and strong throughout the session due to buying on intimation to the advance war by some from operating to close and leaving prices in most of the list about the highest for the week. The opening was strong at advances over last evening's final figures of from ½ to 1 per cent the latter in New England. There was good buying all round the room for both foreign and domestic account, though traders and professionals were still working for a further reaction and there was some liquidation on long accounts, the market showing unusual strength in early trading. After New England, Gould stocks attracted the most attention, and Missouri Pacific was very prominent; with grangers near behind. There was a slight check given the rise after the first half hour, when the best prices in some stocks had been reached, but the advance was soon resumed and further gains were recorded at a majority of the list. The principal advances comprise: New England, 2; Missouri Pacific, 2; Northern Pacific preferred and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy each 1; Jersey Central, 1½ and Northwestern, Manhattan, Pacific Mail and St. Paul each 1 per cent.

FINISHED TO CHICAGO.

The Santa Fe Rounding Its Own Trains from Kansas City to Chicago. The Foremost Thoroughfare.

The Chicago, Santa Fe and California railway, being the Chicago extension of the Atchison road, is completed to Chicago, and commences on Sunday, April 29th, to run through trains from Kansas City, Topeka, Atchison and St. Joseph to that city. The road between Chicago and Kansas City is 458 miles in length, being over 30 miles shorter than the old line of the 108 route, 99 per cent of the track is tangent and only 11 per cent curvature; the grades are very light, while nearly all crossings with other roads are made under or overhead. The trains of the new line will be of the vestibule pattern, of which so much has been said in the east, and will give the people of the west an opportunity to dip in and enjoy this much vaunted luxury. The idea of popularizing the line with travelers has induced the Santa Fe to make a notable innovation connected with its vestibule trains; no extra charge will be made. All eastern lines charge extra for the additional accommodation.

Persons attending the republican national convention in June will have a chance to test the new line.
